

SYNTHETIC RISK REWARD INDICATOR

Equity and property investments are volatile by nature and subject to potential capital loss. For credit and income instruments, while unlikely, capital loss may also occur due to an event like the default of an issuer.

FUND OBJECTIVE

The Growth MultiFund aims to provide high levels of growth with moderate to high levels of risk and volatility over the medium to longer-term.

The Sub-Fund is actively managed and is not managed in reference to any benchmark. It is managed by reference to a performance target which is to outperform USD LIBID +3% to 5% over a minimum five years.

SUITABILITY & RISK AND REWARD

The Growth MultiFund is suitable for clients with an investment time horizon of a minimum 5 years. Investing in the fund involves a risk to capital in order to achieve the desired return.

To achieve the investment objective, the portfolio invests across a range of asset classes within a strategic and tactical asset allocation framework designed to maximise diversification benefits. An absolute and relative valuation-based approach underpins this framework, resulting in a multilayered process to facilitate disciplined decision-making and risk management.

Portfolio construction combines exposures to active fund managers, who are expected to outperform their defined benchmarks and passive investment vehicles which provide low cost access to markets. This blend of active and passive funds is used to create a competitively priced investment solution.

ASSET ALLOCATION³

1) The annualised total return is the average return earned by an investment each year over a given time period. Performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual investment performance may differ as a result of initial fees, the actual investment, the actual investment date, the date of any reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Data source Nedgroup Investments (IOM) Limited.
2) The on-going fee is a measure of the actual expenses incurred in the management of the Classes of the Sub-Fund. The on-going fee shown is expressed as a percentage of the monthly average value of the portfolio calculated over a 12-month period as at the date shown. The current on-going fee cannot be used as an indication of future on-going fees. A higher on-going fee does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low on-going fee imply a good return.

February 2021

MARKET COMMENTARY

The main story for markets in February was the extraordinary sell off in sovereign bonds. This move was primarily as a result of two main factors: (1) the likelihood that the US government will soon enact a massive US$1.9tn fiscal stimulus program, and (2) hopes that Covid-19 economic constraints will lessen as we move further into 2021.

With the Democrats controlling all three legs of the US government, it seems probable that the last hurdles for the US fiscal splurge will soon be cleared. If so, it will significantly reinforce the US recovery. Investors have also taken encouragement from the falling Covid-19 infection rates and accelerating vaccine roll-outs, with early reports suggesting the various jobs are very effective at reducing infection and transmission rates.

Whilst many individuals and businesses have suffered financial loss through the lockdowns, others have done much better, which is reflected in astonishingly high savings rates over recent quarters. As lockdowns ease, it seems reasonable to expect pent up demand to turbo-charge the economic recovery in H2. Investors have therefore started to focus on the likelihood of increased inflation, a scenario central banks are likely to be tolerant towards as they look to boost employment and economic activity. The expectation of higher growth and inflation put upward pressure on longer-dated government bond yields during the month.

Equity markets rose (+2.3%) as measured by the MSCI AC World Index in US dollars. The best performing regions were those markets with a greater exposure to cyclical sectors, such as the UK (+3.6%). US equities (+2.6%) were supported by the expectation of further fiscal support, whilst Emerging Markets (+0.8%) lagged after a strong January. The more economically sensitive sectors such as Energy (+13.4%) and Financials (+8.8%) outperformed in February, although “stay at home” Communication Services (+5.2%) also did well on the back of good earnings results. The weakest sectors were generally the more defensive areas such as: Utilities (-5.1%), Healthcare (-2.8%), and Consumer Staples (-2.6%). In terms of style, Value (+4.5%) significantly outperformed Growth (+0.2%), whilst more cyclical Smaller Companies (+5.1%) outperformed Larger Companies (+2.3%).

Within fixed income, the sharp rise in government bond yields, in anticipation of stronger economic growth, meant that lower quality sub investment grade corporate bonds, as measured by the ICE Merrill Lynch Global High Yield Index (+0.4%), outperformed investment grade credit and safe haven government bonds, with the Merrill Lynch Global Corporate Investment Grade Index down -1.6% and the JP Morgan Global Bond Index down -2.2% (all hedged to US dollars).

Commodities jumped higher with the Bloomberg Commodities Index up +6.5%. Crude Oil (+18.1%) and Industrial Metals (+10.1%) outperformed, supported by the prospect of a strong recovery in demand in H2. Whilst Gold (-6.6%) was the weakest sector, hindered by rising bond yields which increases the opportunity cost of investing in the precious metal.

In the foreign exchange markets, the US dollar was mixed in February, strengthening against the euro (+0.5%) and Japanese yen (+1.8%), but weakening against the pound (-1.6%), which continued to benefit from the UK's efficient vaccine program. Elsewhere, the US dollar was strong against emerging market currencies, such as the Brazilian real (+2.4%), Mexican peso (+1.4%), but fell slightly against the South African rand (-0.3%).

PORTFOLIO COMMENTARY

The Nedgroup Investments Growth MultiFund was up +2.5% during February.

Within equities, our winners tended to be the more cyclically exposed managers such as Dodge & Cox Global Stock, which posted strong outperformance (+8.0%) on the back of its exposure to value stocks in economically sensitive sectors - financials, energy and industrials. TT Emerging Markets Equity (+5.1%) was another outperformer benefitting from its cyclical exposure within financials, materials and energy, but also good stock selection in IT and communication services, both of which sectors helped Fundsmith Equity (+2.9%) outperform as well. Nedgroup Global Equity (+2.1%) saw mixed results with industrials adding to returns, but healthcare and consumer staples detracting. Finally, Morgan Stanley Global Brands (-0.4%) lagged global markets as quality growth stocks in consumer staples came under pressure.

In other asset classes, the portfolio's property exposure was mixed with our global REITs holding Nedgroup Global Property (+1.7%) helped by the markets' pronounced "risk on" tone during the month. At the other end of the spectrum UK commercial property was under pressure (BCPT Commercial Property Trust lost -8.5%) and our UK healthcare REITs (Impact Healthcare lost -3.9% and Target Healthcare fell -1.6%) underperformed as Target's recent capital raise depressed share prices.

Despite the cold spell, most of our renewables holdings were off the pace over the period as one of the blue chips of the sector (Greencoat UK Wind -5.6%, which we also hold) announced a capital raise. This knocked off course most of its competitors. Greencoat Renewables lost -2.1%, and John Laing Environmental Assets -1.3%. The Renewables Infrastructure Group (+2.9%) was our only renewable in positive territory. Our two asset-backed lending exposures were mixed, with KKV Secured Loan Fund C-Shares advancing strongly (+34.5%) after announcing a capital return to shareholders following the repayment of previously written down loans. GCP Asset Backed Income (-0.1%) was nearly flat over the period. In terms of our infrastructure holdings, 3i Infrastructure was down -2.5% despite the resilience of its investments during the pandemic. Hipgnosis Songs Fund (-5.0%) continued to lag the market after their recent capital raise, whereas Round Hill Music Royalty Fund, was up +0.7%.

In terms of portfolio activity, we decided to rebalance our equity exposure down to target ahead of the month end by reducing our allocation towards passive funds. We also continued to lower the duration of our fixed income portfolio by trimming longer duration US government bond holdings via Vanguard US Government Bond Index and investment grade credit via PIMCO Global Investment Grade Credit. The proceeds were deployed in the short duration iShares $ Treasury Bond 1-3 Years ETF.
